Seeing Some Leaves Change. . .

...and maybe even some lives. Next week, I shall be accompanying Andre as an assistant on his next tour. The shows will be in Maryland starting on the 25th. If you would like specifics on any of these shows, please let me know. The schedule is below.

Monday, October 25th, Salisbury, MD
Tuesday, October 26th, Salisbury, MD
Thursday, October 28th, Ridgely, MD
Saturday, October, 30th, Easton, MD
Sunday, October 31st, Federalsburg, MD

Having a Grand Time

Last Sunday I did 2 children's programs at a church which was having it's grand opening. About a dozen children indicated that they prayed with me to accept Jesus. With kids, you never really know if they understood until you talk with them individually. But, they did hear a very clear, simple, gospel message which I trust had some positive influence.

Pocket Gospel Illustration seen in the wild

The included photo was taken by a local Campus Crusade for Christ Staff member who is involved in establishing Christian leadership training in areas which have that need. On a previous trip to Africa he took along a few of Andre's Pocket Gospel Illustrations and left them with the locals. Last month when he visited again, he found one of the leaders enthusiastically sharing the gospel with those he encountered, using the Pocket Gospel Illustration. In this photo he is demonstrating it for a home fellowship, while another man translates for the English speakers present.

Progress on the Pocket Gospel Illustration DVD project is slow, as it remains mostly on the back burner in deference to the many, more urgent, things that I need to attend to. Please join me in praying about how God might provide direction for the best use of my time among the many demands for it around here.

Gratefully,

Craig Greenwood
