Dear friend,

This summer has been a whirlwind of activity. One of the highlights was going through Team Leader training. Last school year I had the privilege of serving as co-Team Leader with Jessey (middle). As new Team Leaders we stumbled through in our roles doing the best we could based upon what we had seen done in the previous year. It is so refreshing to now be given resources and vision for how to do the job of co-Team Leader for our wonderful Bridges team at Arizona State University!

As a result of this Team Leader training I feel like my heart has been softened towards God and His calling for me as a Team Leader, even though I don't feel like I'm gifted for this role. I got to hear some great testimonies of our executive leaders who faced difficulty in leadership and life where they have had to trust God even more. It further pushes me to believe this journey of spiritual growth and leading others spiritually is going to be hard, but, like Moses who did not feel adequate for the task, I'm willing to let God work through me in spite of my weaknesses.

Last week I returned from Cru's week-long, bi-annual staff conference at Colorado State University. It too, was encouraging to me in this Team Leadership role - some of the speakers were motivating to push on in God's strength and to step out boldly in faith, trusting Him to accomplish his purposes through my obedience.

Please pray for the preparations for the arrival of new, and returning, international students to campus in the next few weeks. Please also join us in asking God for several internationals who desire to grow in the faith and become multipliers - reaching out to their peers with the good news of Jesus.

For information about our activities with international students you can visit asubridges.club. (It will be updated in the next few weeks.)
